FAMILIARITY with peril seems to breed indifference to it. We read of Pennsylvania coal miners entering gallaries long unused and liable to be filled with inflammable gas. They carry open lights, as though to ignite it if possible. Fire and explosion ensue. Nobody will wonder that such recklessness furnishes work for the corner.

A CHUEL lady in Meriden keeps an osage-orange plant in her parlor, and has recently made two full-blown flowers and one half-opened bud of white wax and placed them upon the barren plant. All her callers admire the "sweet-smeling" fraud, while several gentlemen have observed that the half blown bud has opened consikerably since they first called.

> Keep the Hair Unblemished. am like an old hemlock—withered at the top," said a venerable Indian Chief, pointing to his thin and bleaching locks. Thousands of men and women in civilized society, much younger than the old Sagamore, are like him, "withered at the top," simple because the conditions of the condi Sagamore, are like him, "withered at the top," simply because they have neglected to use the means of preserving and beautifying the hair which science had placed at their disposal. If Liva's KATHAIRON be faithfully applied once or twice a day, to the fibers and the scalp, it is just as impossible that the hair should decay, wither, fall out or become harsh and fuzzy, as that a meadow, duly refreshed with nightly dews and sunit rains, should become arid and barren of green blades. This matchless preparation not only keeps the hair alive and the skin of the head in a healthy and elean condition, but actually multiplies the filaments and imparts to them a lustre, flexibility and wavy beauty unattainable by any other mode of treatment. It does not, like the metalho and sulphurous hair dyes, dry up the natural moisture of the scale hat entered and sulphurous hair dyes, dry up the nat-ural moisture of the scalp, but supplies nutriment to the roots of the hair and vigor to the fibers.

Not Happy Enough.

"Art though not happy, forsooth?" in substance, cries a great living writer,
"Be content with this happiness—to be able to do thy work!" But yet, alas, how many are there who fail short oven of this! How many are there who are compelled inexorably, day by day, to accomplish the task which Fate has allotted to them to whom Fate has not livewise althem, to whom Fate has not likewise al lotted the strength adequate. Somehow or other, they indeed get their work done—because they must; but let broken spirits, attenuated muscles, impaired men-—because they must; but let broken spirits, attenuated muscles, impaired mental vigor—let these witnesses say at what cost. Now there is a medicine to which sufferers of this class may resort with confidence—Dr. Gottlieb Fisch's Bitters. As a tonic this invigorates digestion—thoroughly and permanently, and that provides additional nutriment, obtained from food, for the overworked brain and muscles; and, as a wholesome stimulant, it greatly assists the enfeebled tissues in appropriating the nutriment thus provided!
